

Calming the Emotional Storm: DBT Core Mindfulness Skills

Over 75% of mental illnesses described in the DSM are related to emotion dysregulation – the inability to manage emotions effectively. Given that Dialectical Behavior Therapy (DBT) was initially created to treat Borderline Personality Disorder (BPD), of which emotion dysregulation is a primary problem, it only makes sense that DBT would be effective in treating other disorders, and research in recent years is supporting this.

This seminar will provide an overview of the DBT Core Mindfulness skills. Participants will learn about these skills, including an introduction to mindfulness, the States of Mind, and the “What” and “How” skills. Discussion will be around how to use these skills ourselves in both professional and personal lives, and how to teach these skills to clients struggling with mental illness.

Target Audience

Psychologists
Therapists

Social Workers
Psychiatrists

Counselors
Nurses

Course level: Intermediate

Learning Objectives

At the end of this seminar, participants will be able to:

1. Practice mindfulness in three different ways
2. Teach mindfulness to clients in individual or group sessions
3. Explain how mindfulness is helpful for clients with mental health problems
4. Explain the importance of practicing mindfulness ourselves as clinicians
5. Describe the Core Mindfulness skills taught in DBT (States of Mind, “What” Skills & “How” Skills) and how these assist in emotion regulation

Seminar Schedule

Typically begins at 10:00 AM and ends at 11:30 AM Eastern time. However, check the webinar schedule.
